Nina is talking to her Cambodian friend, Ary. She is curious to learn more about her friend's country.

Nina: Unfortunately I do not know much about Cambodia. I have heard of Angkor Wat, but to my shame, I do not know what it is exactly.

Ary: It is a temple complex and the largest religious monument in the world. It has become a symbol of our country.

Nina: Is it still well-preserved?

Ary: Yes, it's still in very good shape. But with the passage of time and due to some restoration attempts, some parts have been deteriorated.

Nina: Who built it?

Ary: A king built it as a capital city and temple in the 12th century. Speaking of which, the name means "City of Temples". But some legends say that a god or a divine architect built it in one night.

Nina: That's interesting!

Ary: Indeed.

Nina: No wonder it is so popular and famous.

Ary: Yes, it is admired for the grandeur of the architecture. Angkor Wat incorporates the richness of our culture, it's a very beautiful place to visit.

Nina: Take me there one day, will you?

Ary: Ok, maybe we can go together.
